

Update for all School of Engineering students September 2020

Dear students,

We are providing you with some information that you will need to plan your new start or return to GMIT in September. We have planned a campus that is safe and comfortable to attend for classes in September.

For the academic session 2020/21, School of Engineering staff have designed the delivery of your course with two major objectives. Firstly that you can learn in safe conditions and, secondly, that the essential tutorials and practical elements of your course are delivered on-campus. The remaining elements of your course will be moved to online delivery as per a weekly timetable to be made available to you in September. There will be essential induction training online for continuing students commencing w/b September 21st.

Term 1 starts on Monday 28th September, 2020 for Years 2, 3 and 4 who will be required commence their academic programme and to attend on-campus for the essential tutorials and the practical workshop and laboratory elements as per timetable. The details for your required attendance on campus are shown in the table below by programme.

First year students will attend campus for induction one day on w/b September 28th 2020. The exact day will issue shortly. Year 1 lectures will commence w/b October 5th and students will be required to attend on-campus for the essential tutorials and the practical workshop and laboratory elements as per timetable. More detail on this will be given to students at the on-campus induction day.

To allow for students to plan for on campus attendance, you will find below the days of the week you will be required to attend on-campus by programme and year of study.

Looking forward to seeing you.

Regards

Carine, Des and Mary
